At Westover, you are the protagonist in your story with a world specifically built for you. The buildings, supporting characters of teachers and staff, and the limitless opportunities to lead—place you at the center. Inside these walls is a global community full of classmates from 24 different countries eager to explore and collaborate, faculty who encourage you to seek challenge and share your ideas, and dorm parents who listen with full attention and open hearts. Imagine a place fortified by sisterhood since 1909, where friendships are family, lifelong, and unbreakable.

Westover School is a 9-12 girl-centered boarding and day school located in Middlebury, Connecticut.

Imagine Yourself at Westover

a day in the life at a school built just for you

First period, it's science! You head to the science wing and find a seat in the lab. Whether taking Anatomy & Physiology, Astronomy, or Botany, your morning is full of hands-on learning, collaboration with classmates, and exploring something new.

7:30 a.m.

Your day at Westover begins with breakfast. Gather around the table with your friends and chat about your day ahead while you enjoy a meal prepared by the chefs. Say hi to your teachers as they come in and prepare for the day.

8:00 a.m.

When the bell rings, you and your classmates head to Assembly in Red Hall. Led entirely by student leaders, this is the time for you to share community announcements, celebrate birthdays and accomplishments, and engage in life together.

9:20 a.m.

Next up, it's time for your history class. Head across Quad and find your seat. Today's AP Human Geography class engages in a student-led discussion, allowing you to learn from your peers and explore material together.

10:00 a.m.

You head to the Women in Science and Engineering building. Today, the class is 3-D printing models in the Makerspace. While exploring engineering problems through real-world applications, you begin applying theoretical knowledge to practical solutions.

12:00 p.m.

Next up, music lessons! You are trying something new this year and decided to learn piano. Your one-on-one lesson provides a change of pace in your day.

1:20 p.m.

At Westover, student-advisor relationships are at the heart of learning. In your free block, head to your advisor's classroom to check in, discuss your busy week, and find the resources you need to be successful. Your advisor is your best advocate and you always look forward to your time together.

2:00 p.m.

This semester, you're taking Large Format Photography. In addition to learning techniques, you can explore with your camera, allowing you to experience the campus through a new lens.

2:30 p.m.

The afternoon is the time to pursue your passions and interests. Play a team sport, choose a genre of dance, lean into acting in the theatre program, or make things happen behind the scenes with the theatre tech program. Want to explore robotics or chess or learn fitness for life skills, you can!

3:30 p.m.

Dinner means gathering with your friends and classmates to enjoy time together. Sharing about your day, making plans for the evening, or chatting about homework, dinner is always lively.

5:30 p.m.

After dinner, you head to the Rasin Center for Global Justice to meet with your club or affinity group, where you can create a new connection between you and your peers.

6:30 p.m.

Last but not least – study hall and homework, then the dorms come to life! Westover's unique architecture means all the dorms are connected, making it easy to find your friends, no matter what grade they may be in. You end your day with snacks and games in Student Commons and turn in for the night!

7:00 p.m.
